Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

WAVERLY, Tenn., is a small town—1,100 population, the road map tells you—but tourists remember Waverly for its beautiful western approach down a double line of Lombardy poplars. Situated between dirty, industrial Memphis, and the capital city of Nashville, Waverly is one Tennessee town that knows how to stick long and favorably in the memory of travelers. Hope can do the same.

Relief Rushed to Tampico, Crushed by Tropic Storm

Dead and Injured Officially Placed at 500—Port Destroyed

HOSPITAL CRASHES

Many Die in One Building—2,000 Americans Safe

By the Associated Press
VERA CRUZ, Mexico.—(P)—First news direct from Tampico received here when communications were restored late Tuesday afternoon said Sunday's hurricane killed or injured more than 500 persons and destroyed almost the entire port.

This revised first reports of 5,000 dead, but raised a wireless estimate of only 52 dead.

Wireless Estimate Low
BROWNSVILLE, Texas.—(P)—Wireless messages received by the Pan-American Airways here Tuesday placed the official death list in the hurricane at Tampico, Mexico, Sunday, at 52.

The reports said the city was not hit as hard as at first appeared. Relief agencies were moving Tuesday to aid the hurricane-stricken port of Tampico, Mexico, with the death toll still unofficially uncounted, but some estimates ranging as high as 5,000 dead or injured.

Two relief trains are en route from Mexico City.

The State Department at Washington heard that nearly 2,000 Americans living in the Tampico district are apparently safe.

Wireless reports to Brownsville, Texas, told of the death of many persons in the collapse of the Tampico civil hospital during the storm Sunday night.

Total Dead Unknown
MEXICO CITY.—(P)—Heavy losses of life, still officially uncounted, and tremendous property damage wrought in the oil port of Tampico by a hurricane were reported to the Mexican capital Monday night.

At the Department of Interior, official Eduardo Vasconcelos said the number of dead "cannot be stated exactly." From Tampico, the military chief of the district reported by wireless that "three quarters" of the city was destroyed and "many" were dead and injured.

The estimates of thousands dead were made by officials at the Interior Department "unofficially" or "semi-officially" on the basis of information then at hand. Capital newspapers reported with reports that 5,000 had been killed.

Vasconcelos was ordered by President Rodriguez to proceed immediately to the stricken city with several sanitary brigades, food and medical supplies.

Report From Military Chief
The only direct official report from Tampico was from General Anselmo Macias, military chief of the district, who said the storm had caused a "tremendous catastrophe" and martial law had been declared.

The report of General Macias said: "More than three quarters of Tampico completely destroyed. Solid and wooden houses of all kinds were wrecked. Many dead and injured. Forces under my command are affording aid to an enormous number of people who are asking help. For the safety of the city I have declared martial law."

A message to General Vasconcelos said: "A majority of the port was destroyed and it is difficult to describe the ruin caused."

These messages were relayed from an improvised wireless station on the steamer "Tahoe" in Tampico to Vera Cruz. From the latter city they were telegraphed here.

NEW YORK.—(P)—Net operating income of the first 16 railroads to report for August totaled $13,703,000 compared with $7,506,000 a year ago, an increase of 82½ per cent, and $11,948,000 for August, 1931, a rise of 14.6 per cent.

In July this year the total was $14,765,000, which was 234.5 per cent above the $4,413,000 aggregate for July, 1932.

It's not too late to get started! You can win $1,000 every year for life if you submit a good idea. You'll find all details in next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner. Don't overlook this great opportunity.—Adv.

We have a good approach from the east on No. 67, entering a district of large homes.

But the western approach is bad. We would do well to plant an avenue of shade trees out West Third street to the corporation line.

And the city's septic tanks, a mile farther west, need to be screened with vines—aromatic vines (by all means)!

Politicians demanding 20-cent cotton by government edict arouse the Stuttgart Arkansawyer to this word of caution:

"Cotton at a stabilized price of 10 cents per pound, as now seems certain, comes nearer to a sensible solution of the problem of the Southern farmer. . . . It would be foolhardiness to fix the price of cotton, rice or any other product beyond the ability of consumers to buy. It is far easier to fix a price than to make people pay it when they feel that it is unfair. Twenty-cent cotton by edict now would do irreparable harm to the cotton industry by reducing consumption."

Kidnap Defendants Blame Each Other

Associate Turns on Randol Norvell in Luer Case

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill.—(P)—After blaming others for his part in the kidnaping of August Luer, Alton, (Ill.) banker, Randol Norvell, a defendant, was himself accused Monday by Christ Nicola Gitcho, another defendant, of forcing him unwittingly into the abduction scheme.

Gitcho, whose grocery store Luer was held for two hours after the kidnaping, denied on the stand that he had any guilty knowledge of the abduction.

He said Norvell asked him for the use of his store, ostensibly as a rendezvous for fellow gamblers.

Norvell testified Friday that he participated in the kidnaping unwillingly on top of fear of "Irish" O'Malley, a fugitive and at the insistence of Mrs. Lillian Shessen, the only woman in the group of six defendants on trial.

He also said he obtained the use of Gitcho's store after he told the grocer a man was to be kidnaped and held there. Gitcho said he was awakened on the night of the abduction by Norvell who said:

Air Mail Pilots Get Pay Increase

Fliers Advanced to $7,000 and $7,700 Salary Per Year

CHICAGO.—(P)—Representatives of five major air lines Monday announced an increased pay scale affecting pilots and co-pilots and a program providing better working conditions as they sought to eradicate unrest manifested recently regarding compensation.

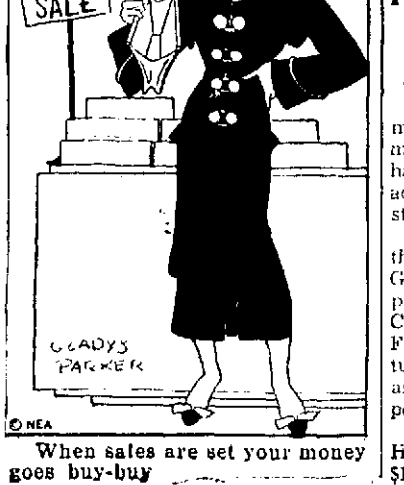

Announcement of increased pay was made in a joint statement issued by American Airways, Eastern Air Transport, Transcontinental and Western Air, United Airlines and Western Air Express.

The new wages will be effective October 1. Pilots, company representatives said, will receive an average of $7,500 per year. No statement was given regarding present wage scales but the conferees said the new scale represented an increase in pay "to 250 out of the total of 375 pilots employed by the five lines."

"They said it would maintain an average salary of about $7,000 annually for pilots flying an average of 18 hours week and about $7,700 for pilots flying 21 hours weekly."

NRA Compliance Board Organized

E. O. Wingfield Is Head of Tribunal to Air Violations

Six Members Represent Various Divisions of Local Business

DUTIES ARE DEFINED
Compliance Board Must Receive All Local Complaints

The local NRA Compliance Board met Tuesday for its organization session and elected E. O. Wingfield as permanent chairman.

The chairman is the seventh member, each of the other six representing a division of local business; and the board is the authorized body before which all complaints of Blue Eagle violations must be aired.

Members of Board

Industrial Labor Employes—F. B. Ward, of Hope Basket company.

Industrial Employes—J. R. Williams, of J. L. Williams & Sons.

Retail and Wholesale Employes—Ralph Bailey, of Geo. W. Robinson & Co.

Retail and Wholesale Employes—R. L. Gosnell, of Gosnell & Gosnell.

Consumers—Mrs. J. H. Arnold.

Legal Representative—W. K. Lemley.

These six were selected by the local NRA organization, and in turn elect-

Retail Code Is Up
WASHINGTON.—(P)—Despite the furor raised around the price control provisions of the retail code there were indications Tuesday that the compact might receive presidential approval within a few days.

With Administrator Johnson in the hospital receiving treatment for an infection officials busied themselves with the retail code and a number of hearings.

ed Mr. Wingfield, of Hope Hardware company, as chairman.

Mr. Wingfield directs the local public's attention to the following definition of the Local Compliance Board, as stated by the National Recovery Administration (NRA) in a bulletin dated September 11:

Tribunal for Complaints
"The Compliance Board shall have no powers of enforcement except upon express direction from Washington."

"The greatest publicity possible should be given to the creation of the board so that it is clearly understood throughout the community that all future complaints of non-compliance should be submitted to the NRA Compliance Board. It should be impossible on the community that anyone who is displaying the Eagle is presumed to be complying with the president's agreement until the Eagle is taken away from him by competent federal authority. Rumors injurious to NRA members should be discouraged and the community instructed that the thing to do is to bring complaints with the facts which support the same to the local Compliance Board and not to report a suspicion to neighbors."

It should be kept clear that the NRA Compliance Board is the local representative of the National Recovery Administration and that it is not affiliated with any other organization.

"There is no provision for the allowance of salaries or expenses to the board by the federal government other than the extension of the franking privilege for all official communications."

Harry Shiver Gets Back His $1,500

Hope Man Recovers From Stock Fraud Promoter

WILMINGTON, Del.—(P)—Seven men and women, gathered from as many parts of the country, Monday had savings returned by the man who admitted duping them in a fraudulent stock scheme.

The principal in the old story with the unusual ending was Richard C. Guest, of New York and Chicago, who pleaded guilty in the United States Court to using the mails to defraud. Fined $500 and ordered to make restitution, he paid back $7,320 to five men and two women who met him in a postal inspector's office.

They included Harry W. Shiver, Hope, Ark., to whom Guest returned $1,500.

Desperado Whispers

24 Police Cases Heard by Lemley

Hope Municipal Court Extends Over Into Tuesday

Twenty-four trial cases faced Judge W. K. Lemley in municipal court Monday and Tuesday. Verdicts were rendered in some, a few cases were dismissed and several continued. Results were:

Ella Walker and Dennis Williams, each charged with storing beer without paying a license; no verdict, case taken under advisement by Judge Lemley.

Elbert Washington, Grand Larceny; bound over to the Hempstead county grand jury. Bond fixed at $200.

Robert Stewart and Albert Neal, burglary and grand larceny; dismissed.

Nolen Blessingame, grand larceny; held into Hempstead county grand jury under $500 bond.

Louis Bradley, disturbing the peace, continued until October 16.

Ed Gleghorn, drunkenness; continued until October 16.

Frizzell White, assault and battery; plea of guilty, fined $10 and costs.

Charles Brown, Foster Curtis, Rufus Martin, drunkenness; all continued until October 16.

J. T. Oiler, D. C. Simms and Oscar Willis, drunkenness; plea of guilty and fine of $5 and costs in each case.

Sid Jones, simple assault; fined $5 and costs.

Louis Rodgers, driving car while intoxicated; continued until October 16.

W. D. Sipes, drunkenness; forfeit of $11 bond, when he failed to appear in court.

Exchange May Not Leave New York

City Is Backing Down on Its Proposed Tax Schedule

NEW YORK.—(P)—The New Jersey Stock Exchange Monday night reverted to the realm of uncertainty as a result of indications that New York city authorities might reconsider proposed taxes on Wall Street brokers.

The new exchange, scheduled to start operations in the Centre Market building in Newark Monday, acquired form and substance over the weekend and until late Monday it appeared that even the abandonment of the city taxes would not interfere with its debut.

Clouds began to surround the existence of the infant when Samuel Untermyer, sponsor of the city's emergency tax program, at a hearing before Mayor O'Brien Monday afternoon recommended dropping the taxes if the exchange called off its plan to transfer the bulk of its business to New Jersey. Meanwhile it was stated at the stock exchange that no lease on the Centre would be signed Monday.

Untermyer declared that in justice to the state and to reality values in downtown New York every reasonable effort should be made to dissuade the exchange from carrying out its threat of flight. Asserting that he still believed the brokers were bluffing, Untermyer urged delay in adopting the taxes.

CHIETA, Italy.—(P)—At least six persons were killed and thirty injured Tuesday in an earthquake which terrorized the inhabitants of the Abruzzi and Merchelegno mountainous regions, the scenes of many previous quakes.

It was the first tremor felt in Rome in two years.

Ring Lardner Dies of Heart Attack

Great Sports Humorist Succumbs at 48—Achieved Fame

EAST HAMPTON, L. I.—Ring W. Lardner, 48, author and playwright, died at his home here Monday night of a heart ailment. He had been seriously ill for several weeks. He passed away in his sleep.

In 1905, he closed the prelude of his career, for in that year he ceased keeping books for the gas company at Miles, Mich., and went to South Bend, Ind., to do reporting and cover baseball.

For two years he was sporting editor of the South Bend Times. Then, in 1907, the world's series was played in Chicago, and Mr. Lardner, taking his vacation, went. He was introduced to Hugh Fullerton, sports writer, who was the means of finding him a vacancy on the staff of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. In the spring he went on the road with the White Sox. One ambition was realized.

For the next six years he wrote sports in Chicago, Boston and St. Louis.

In 1911 he married Miss Ellis Abbott of Goshen, Ind., and he was just paying for the furniture when his Boston paper was swept away. He borrowed the money for a return to Chicago from the owners of the Red Sox and the Braves. He paid them back, "to their astonishment," as he later explained.

In 1913, Hugh E. Keogh, whose sports column in the Chicago Tribune called "by Ike" was considered the best thing of its kind in the country, died and Mr. Lardner was given the difficult task of filling it.

It was in an effort to turn out seven columns a week that he hit upon the method which was to make him famous. In hotel lobbies, club houses, dugouts, he had been listening to talk among the ball players—using slang and singular nouns and plural verbs mixed together. One day in an effort to fit out his piece, he wrote a short dialogue supposedly between two players engaged in a Pullman car poker game. It was the mixture as noted above, with shrewd touches of character and the natural speech of the low brow that resulted in his left-handed pitcher "Al" which delighted a nation of magazine readers and fulfilled his second ambition.

In 1919 Lardner left the Chicago Tribune to join a newspaper syndicate and moved to Great Neck, L. I.

3 Will Not Serve on Auditing Board, Governor Is Told

Harry J. Lemley and Two Others Reject Renewal Appointments

STRAITENED MEANS
Resources at Disposal of Board Declared Too Limited

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The three men named to complete the state highway audit, Sam H. Case of Batesville, J. H. Hol-J. Lemley of Hope, notified Governor Futrell Tuesday that they were declining the appointments because they felt the means and time at their disposal were inadequate.

The governor would not say whether he would make new appointments. The appointments, all members of the former Highway Audit Commission, planned to issue a statement later in the day.

Co-Op Banks Delayed
LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—To formation of co-operative banks was halted by Chancellor Dodge Tuesday except with the permission of State Bank Commissioner Wasson.

The court restrained Secretary of State McDonald on a petition by Wasson from granting charters for banks as authorized by a 10-year-old act.

Hays-Terry Vote Is Held Tuesday

Fifth District Has First Run-Off Under 1933 Law

LITTLE ROCK.—Supporters of Brooks Hays and D. D. Terry are expected to make an unusual effort to get the voters to the polls Tuesday as democratic citizens of the First Congressional District nominated a candidate for congressmen to succeed Federal Judge Heartill Ragon, in Arkansas' first run-off primary.

Mr. Hays led the ticket in the first primary two weeks ago, and Mr. Terry finished ahead of Sam Rorex for second place. The run-off primary law was enacted by the 1933 legislature.

The Fifth district includes Pulaski, Perry, Faulkner, Conway, Pope, Johnson, Franklin and Yell counties, and throughout the district the polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m.

As was the case in the first primary two weeks ago, the candidates have agreed to have no paid or volunteer workers at the polls today soliciting votes. The Little Rock Unit of the Arkansas Democratic Women's Clubs was responsible for this innovation and it has proved popular with the voters.

R. E. Lee Wilson Is Reported Recovering

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—R. E. Lee Wilson was given "every chance to recover" Monday. Physicians said the 67-year-old founder of Wilson, Ark., and one of the world's largest cotton planters, apparently is recovering following a major operation.

Moose Are Scored in Lottery Trial

But U. S. Fails to Connect Senator Davis Directly

NEW YORK.—(P)—The government, trying United States Senator James J. Davis on charges of lottery law violations, succeeded Monday in getting evidence in the record concerning charity enterprises of the Loyal Order of Moose, basis of the case against the Pennsylvanian.

Davis is on trial with Theodore G. Miller, head of the Moose Propagation Department. The senator is director general of the order and the government contends he and Miller sent lottery tickets interstate.

Successful objections by the defense kept the government from getting much of its evidence in the report late in the day Federal Judge Johnson Hayes of North Carolina admitted letters pertaining to the 1930 charity activities of the order. The letter was from Malcolm R. Giles, supreme Moose secretary, and was addressed to all lodges. It said Miller was preparing a fund-raising plan and asked the lodges not to consider plans submitted by independent companies.

J. P. Brundidge, of Hope, was elected director for the unexpired term of the late O. L. Bodenhamer, of El Dorado.

To Return Dickert for Bank Robbery

Jailed on Texas Side of Texarkana, He'll Be Extradited

TEXARKANA.—Steps will be taken to extradite W. P. (Pliny) Dickert, of Texarkana, to Lafayette county to face charges in connection with the robbery of the First National Bank of Texarkana, it was announced Monday night.

Prosecuting Attorney Millard Alford declared, following a conference with Sheriff R. H. Duty, of Lafayette county, that he would file the papers necessary or Dickert's extradition as soon as possible, probably Tuesday.

Dickert was held in the Texarkana, Texas, jail here Monday night on the strength of a fugitive warrant which, Sheriff Duty notified County Attorney W. N. Harkness, of Bowie county, was in the mails. Dickert has been held in the city since his arrest last Friday.

Officers would have been forced to release Dickert Monday night had not the warrant been issued since statute limitations fix the maximum period in which a person may be held without charges at 72 hours. Dickert has maintained that he is innocent of any connection with the holdup, although John Simmons, confessed driver of the bandits' escape car, has named him as an accomplice.

Simmons was held in the Lafayette county jail at Lewisville Monday night in lieu of $15,000 bond. The comparatively large bond was fixed last Saturday when he waived examining trial to charges of complicity in the holdup.

Leonard Wilson, who officers say has been identified as one of the bandits, was held in the Miller county jail at Texarkana. Joe Carter Vandorbill, of Texarkana, was held at Lewisville in connection with the robbery also. "Red" Nutt, held for investigation in the holdup was released Monday.

It had been determined Monday that the robbery yielded only $602.80. The small amount of loot was attributed to Commissioner Watson's order restricting loose cash reserves to a small percentage of deposits.

"Machine Gunner" Taken With Wife and Two of Pals

Officers Surround Rooming House in Memphis Tuesday Morning

WIFE SOUGHT HELP
Planned to Desert Husband for Father, Standing Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—George (Machine-Gun) Kelly, desperado of the Southwest, sought for the Urschel kidnaping in Oklahoma and many other crimes, surrendered peacefully to officers who surprised him as he slept in a rooming house here early Tuesday.

Police Chief Lee, after talking with Department of Justice officials, said there was no question about Kelly's identity.

Arrested with the outlaw was a woman who Lee said was Kelly's wife.

DALLAS, Texas—(P)—Grover C. Bevil, Dallas business man, pleaded guilty when arraigned in federal court here Monday on an indictment charging he assisted in the escape from the Dallas county jail of Harvey Bailey.

Baron Manion, assistant jailer when Bailey escaped, pleaded not guilty. Federal Judge William H. Atwell set their trial for next Tuesday.

Kathryn, and two men who gave their names as J. R. Tichnor and S. E. Travis.

Kelly's capture was effected by a group of officers who surrounded the house. Kelly appeared at the door with a pistol but quickly dropped it and surrendered in compliance with a police command.

Kelly and his wife will be taken to Oklahoma City immediately and placed on trial as soon as the trial of the other defendants in the Urschel kidnaping is completed, officials there said.

Kelly's wife said she had planned to leave the outlaw in order to surrender to Oklahoma City authorities and help defend her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, who are on trial there in the Urschel case.

She said Kelly threatened to kill her if she did, but she planned to do it anyway.

Shannon's Story

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(P)—R. G. (Boss) Shannon, elderly Texas farmer, turned on two of his co-defendants in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping trial here Monday and testified he and his family were forced to hold the oil man captive on their farm under threat of death.

Seeking to clear himself, his wife, Ora and his son, Armon Shannon related a story of alleged coercion by the kidnapers.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Securities Act May be Made Even Stricter by Congress... Disagreement on Price-Fixing Develops Personal Angle... Administrator Johnson Cautious About Promising Results.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Wall Street's persistent fire on the securities act is likely to develop a hot back-fire.

The suckers will continue, under the New Deal, to be protected from investment bankers and other security merchants who have fooled them in the past. The lobbyists will be out of luck next winter when they attempt to persuade Congress to modify the law.

On the other hand, it's not unlikely that Congress will insert a few more teeth.

Congressmen in touch with home sentiment report that the country is still quite "anti-banker." It will be more so after Ferdinand Pecora resumes the Senate's stock market investigation in October. Disclosures then are expected to be nastier than ever. They will demonstrate again the need for investor protection and, if the act is subsequently opened for amendment, will cause demands for stricter rather than milder provisions.

Stricter Law Likely
Backers of the measure sought a "strict but reasonable" statute. They had to fight hardest for a "reasonable" law, because many members of Congress wanted to make it tougher. Promoters of securities were threatened with a straight guarantee clause which would have held them liable for absolute accuracy in all representations.

They may face that again as a proposed substitute for the existing fiduciary clause which only insists that they be fair and careful.

Brookhart Likes Bible
Ex-senator Smith W. Brookhart, who plots Russian markets for farm products in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, is an inveterate reader of the Bible. . . . Clifford V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, Chicago, wisecracks that the farmers can't blow any more because they're so busy signing affidavits for the AAA.

Governor Ruby Laffoon, addressing the Kentucky legislature, claimed: "God Almighty is walking by my side today. He is walking with me through life. He is walking by my side. He is taking care in a small degree of the taxpayers and the people of Kentucky, and you forget it."

Question of Price-Fixing
The fight over price-fixing in NRA codes has developed a personal, emotional phase. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Roper and Assistant Secretary of Commerce John Dickinson lead the opponents of price-fixing.

Administrator Hugh Johnson, who has allowed price determination provisions in most codes, apparently has been neutral. But he is one at what he regards as a disposition of officials outside NRA to "but in." So the Wallace-Roper-Dickinson group also has become somewhat emotional.

Johnson Cautious
Johnson furnishes some sharp contrasts with the pre-Roosevelt days when every recovery scheme from Washington was ballyhooed as certain to rescue the country from depression. Asked what effect the R. F. C. $1,000,000 plan to finance industry through banks would have on the NRA effort, he replied:

"If it works to extend credit, it should have a marked effect. Whether it will or not, I don't know."

Hardly anyone is very optimistic about it. Banks, borrowing from R. F. C. to lend to industries, will be taking the risks. They can have all the risks they want right now.

The Federal Trade Commission, under the securities act, is gathering evidence against fake tipster sheets which provide "hot tips" to investors on stocks their backers want to unload.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"What do you think of the new idea in school buildings?" I was asked.

"Schools with no windows, perfect ventilating systems of washed air and indirect lighting that throws an even glow equally into every part of the room."

My answer was quick and decisive. "I'd die," I replied quickly.

"Why? We think it's a grand idea. 'All but the windows,' said I. 'I need windows; we all need windows. Everybody needs to feel there's a world outside.'"

Naturally Crave Freedom
And I mean it. The very first instinct a baby shows is this protest against physical restriction. Hold him tight and he will scream. As we grow older we shake this off somewhat, but the real fear never leaves us. We have to have the feeling of physical freedom, of contact with our fellow men, the chance to look at the sky or only the building next door if we want to.

I always write near a window. I cannot write even at a secretary with a top. Somehow I feel that cabinet in front of me shuts out vision. I cannot work facing a wall if the wall is too close.

On the coldest days when I can feel the air fairly congealing on the glass, I seek the window. No warm secluded corners for me! I can think more clearly if I feel the world is outside, near. It isn't a feeling of loneliness—like loneliness; it is a deeper instinct so insistent I do not try to define it.

I'll admit that not all people are this way, but I know many, and surely a percentage of children feel it too. Oh, yes, perhaps we can "condition" children to it. Catch them young enough and you can do anything, I guess. The cave child, for that matter, may never have seen daylight until he could handle his own club.

But the cave child wasn't filled with imagination. He doubtless lacked many of the sensitive instincts centuries of breeding have deposited in us.

Must Have Windows
If ever we start to build those apartment houses of glass and chromium, suspended from a central trunk of steel like Christmas trees, where you step on a platform, press a button, and revolve to the next room—I might consent to live in one. But it will have to have windows. If windows go out of date, I shall have to hunt up a nice banyan tree and set up housekeeping.

To be serious, I think the windowless school-house could never be anything else but a great mistake. A child may not glance outdoors very often during school hours, but he knows the outdoors is there.

We are not Martians yet, whatever they are like. But likely if we did know, we would think them crazy. A generations without windows, I think, could find our inhabitants crazy, too.

form a fitting background for one of the new flat hats.

It is true that wetting your hair each time you comb it, or letting it get damp when you take your daily shower, is bad for the scalp and has a tendency to make the hair dull and lifeless. However, if you live in a place where the air is full of dust or coal soot, once a week is not too often for a shampoo.

Always use a liquid shampoo. Rubbing the cake of soap right on your hair isn't a very good method. If you do not care for one of the prepared liquid shampoos, then make your own, you can melt little pieces of a bland soap and have a perfect liquid shampoo. Simply put the soap in a jar cover it with a little water and give it time to dissolve.

Always wrap a towel tightly around your head before you apply creams and cosmetics. It keeps the hair around your face from getting covered with powder and the like.

NEXT: Eyebrow care.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

©1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, married DICK BARNES, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to go with him.

MOVA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mova is friendly with THOROS REECE who forces unwelcome attentions on Eve.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She finds all this, as well as all her own savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

ARLENE SMITH, stenographer in the Bixby office, becomes engaged to SAM HOLDRIDGE, an advertising man employed by another store.

Following a misunderstanding at Christmas, several weeks pass in which Eve does not hear from Dick. Too stubborn to admit herself in the wrong, she refuses to apologize and begins to see herself as a martyr.

Eve works harder at the office trying to forget her troubles. Tired and lonely, she returns to her apartment one night to find her mother there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIV
EVE awakened next morning to an unaccustomed sound. Her mother was beating something in a bowl. Sleepily Eve roused herself. Sleepily she began to play the guessing game that she and Esther had played when they heard that familiar sound on mornings long ago. The game was to guess what particular treat was in store for them and the winner always received the first serving of waffles or muffins or whatever it was their mother had prepared.

"Waffles," Eve guessed, because her mother knew how much she liked them. Then, as a faint fragrance of bacon and coffee came to her, she jumped out of bed, awakened herself thoroughly with a bucket of water and dressed quickly for the office. Her mother, she remembered, thought it clovenly to appear at the breakfast table in pajamas or negligee.

Eve left a little later with the understanding that her mother was to meet her at noon at a fashionable tea room. After a leisurely luncheon they went to the art museum. When Kate Bayless protested at Eve's devoting so much time to her entertainment her daughter explained, "I had to go to the museum some time this week to take notes for my column so I asked Mr. Barnes if I could do it today. Usually I go in the evening, though there's no real reason why I should. It's office work and I'm within my rights to do it in office hours."

"Why of course, if that's it," her mother agreed. "Now you just attend to your notes and I'll take care of myself. I've always wanted to take my time at a place like this instead of hurrying through and not getting more than a glimpse of anything. When I've seen enough for one time I'll do a little shopping. There are some things Esther wanted me to get for the baby."

Eve took her mother to dinner that evening at a hotel where an orchestra that Kate had heard over the radio was playing. Here the patrons were permitted to select a part of the musical program and Eve, unknown to her mother, sent a note to the leader of the orchestra, asking for two of her mother's favorite songs. After dinner they went to the early showing of a movie and returned home, weary and ready for bed.

TUESDAY evening Eve took her mother to see Marya and Ray in their charming home and Wednesday Mrs. Penney entertained them at dinner. Arlene and Sam also were invited.

"You have nice friends, Eve," Kate Bayless said after the visit to Mrs. Penney's apartment. She had picked up her crochet work—a little cap she was making for Esther's baby—and settled herself in a chair by the fire. "And they have nice homes—real homes. Daughter, when are you going to quit working for other people and settle down to marriage in earnest?"

"I—Dick and I have a nice home, too, Mama."

"Just now Dick has exactly no home at all. Nor you, either. I can't look on and see you making a mess of your life, dear child, without warning you how it is likely to end."

"I didn't say much at first about your working after you were married. I thought that by this time you'd probably have a baby and would be glad to stay at home and keep house and let your husband earn the money. Then, when Dick got this new job I was so glad. I thought, of course, that you'd go with him. How long will his work keep him away, Eve?"

"A year, he thinks. Possibly longer." Eve's voice was very low.

"And after that? What if his next job takes him somewhere else instead of bringing him here again?"

"I—I don't know, Mother!"

"Child, you're not happy living this way. You don't look happy. And you never even speak of your husband unless I bring up the subject. Why don't you give up your work at Bixby's and go to him, Eve? Don't you want to go?"

FOR answer Eve rose, flung herself into her mother's arms and sobbed against her comforting shoulder. Kate patted her, murmuring endearments, and encouraged her to relieve her unhappiness in tears. Presently when Eve had gained some control over her voice she confessed, "Oh, I want him so dreadfully, Mother, but I'm not sure he wants me!"

And she told her mother of the estrangement that had arisen.

"I guess I'm partly to blame for all this," Kate Bayless went on when Eve had dried her eyes and was sitting on a low stool at her mother's feet.

"You? Why how could you be to blame? You were hundreds of miles away!"

"Well, I always tried to save you from even the little hardships when you were a child. I thought there would be time enough for you to face such things when you were older. What I overlooked was to make you see that when you left home and went out into the business world and into a home of your own you'd have to begin to do some of the hard things yourself and sacrifice your own wishes and comfort sometimes for others. I thought you'd see it yourself, Eve. I didn't realize that you needed to be told."

"But I do hard things—loads of them!" Eve insisted. "All the deadly, routine things that Barnes hates to do he gives to me. If you'd ever see how hard I work at Bixby's, Mama, you wouldn't say such a thing!"

"Well, maybe you do—at Bixby's where it doesn't really matter. But at home, Eve? Did you do any of the hard things at home or did you put them all on Dick? You admit that he did nearly all the cooking. Was that fair? Was that going fifty-fifty as you're so fond of putting it?"

"Why shouldn't he do it, when he always got home first in the evening?"

"Well, what about breakfast?"

"Dick had to get to work earlier than I did. Why should he expect me to get up a half hour earlier just to make him some coffee and toast and boil eggs when he could do it as easily himself?"

"Perhaps he could do it as easily. But do you suppose that was the kind of home he looked forward to when he married you? No, Eve, if you were determined to keep an outside job after you married, the least you could do was to take half the responsibility at home, too."

"Of course your husband loves you and wants you to go to Pine Forest or any other place his work takes him. He wants you to make a home for the two of you. If he doesn't tell you so any more, maybe it's pride. Or maybe you've hurt his feelings. A woman gets crabby, Eve, when she works outside her home after she's married. The two jobs are too much for her strength and nerves. You ought to be building up reserve strength that you might need in case of sickness."

"Now, tomorrow night we won't go to a show or anywhere. I'll have a good hot supper ready the minute you get home. You'll like that and you'll realize how Dick would like that, too, and after supper you'll sit down and write him a nice long letter and tell him that you're giving up your work at Bixby's."

Eve did not promise, nor did she write the letter. The next evening she came home as swiftly as a taxi could bring her with the news that Earle Barnes was to leave Bixby's June first to become general manager of a much larger department store in Chicago and that Mr. Bixby had asked her to take his place when he was gone.

Byrd to Sail for South on Monday

His Veteran Aide Is 70, Hero of Peary's Voyage

BOSTON.—(AP)—A crew of adventurers, as hardy as the ship that carries them, accompany Read Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition to the south polar regions Monday.

Hand picked from thousands of applicants, the crew consists of young men and veterans, all bronzed by the suns of many seas, and each especially fitted for the work he will be called upon to do during the two-year glacial survey.

It is a far cry from the North Pole with Peary of the South with Byrd, but Charlie Murphy, the oldest of the picked crew and among the hardest, has bridged the gap. Now nearing 70, he is as eager as the youthful second mate for a try at the icy land down under.

Three trips to the Arctic he admits, once with a whaler and once for his first great adventure, the transporting of Admiral Robert E. Peary on the schooner Eagle to Greenland in 1908.

"The ice in the North has wrecked many a fine ship," Murphy commented, "and they say it's worse down in the South, but I guess the Bear will make it. They made honest ships when her keel was laid and her age has only toughened her."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hitt were Sunday night guests of friends and relatives in Prescott.

Miss Marie Perkins and her niece, Miss Sophie Williams are guests of Major and Mrs. Edward Woodford and Mr. and Mrs. Duval Perkins in Little Rock.

On Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held the first of a series of programs they are giving this week on state missions. "Arkansas," was the subject for the afternoon, and the church was appropriately decorated with the national colors and the flag of Arkansas, and a quantity of beautiful late summer flowers. Circles Nos. 1 and 2, with Mrs. H. A. Smith as leader sponsored the program on "The Flag, the Symbol of Patriotism," with Mrs. Hugh Smith as program chairman. The meeting opened with the national anthem followed by the song "Arkansas" and a most inspiring devotion on "The Good Citizen" was given by Mrs. H. D. Lipscomb, who has done remarkable work on Psalms, 15th from 1st to 5th verses. Mrs. Hugh Jones led in the salute to the flag. Mrs. S. L. Padgett discussed the "Secular History of Arkansas" followed by special music by Miss Nancy Ruth Carrigan, who also made the Arkansas flag used in the program. Mrs. W. R. Chandler gave a very interesting "Bit of Baptist history." Mrs. Gus Daynes gave a splendid talk on "Why My State Means so much to Me." The meeting closed with the song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," and benediction by the president Mrs. Edwin Dossett. Appreciated guests for the program were Mrs. O. A. Graves, president of the W. M. S. of the First Methodist church, who gave a very helpful talk, and Mrs. Mary Carter and Mrs. Walter Carter of the First Christian church. The meeting for Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons will begin at 3 o'clock.

The Young Women's Circle of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church will hold their October meeting at the home of Mrs. R. M. Bryant on North Washington street on Friday September 29 at 4 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Smith and two children of Pine Bluff, visited friends here Monday.

Shreveport Fair Features Dairying

Fine Herds to Be on Exhibit From October 21 to 29th

SHREVEPORT, La.—Assured that they will have opportunity this year to see the greatest number of fine dairy cattle ever displayed at the Louisiana State Fair, breeders of dairy cattle from all sections of Louisiana and the Ark-La-Tex area are making preparations to enter herds of their own and to inspect herds of others, according to the fair management which daily is receiving more entries than ever were received at such an early date.

The dairy department, always a source of interest and keen competition at the fair, will create more interest this year because it will be presented on a large scale, the fair management believes, and visitors—dairymen and breeders—from all sections of the South are expected here for the purpose of buying, trading and exchanging ideas.

Working hand in hand with the extension department of the Louisiana State university for the betterment and improvement of Louisiana dairy herds, the fair has created throughout the state more interest in dairying than perhaps any other agency, according to dairymen, and display this year, from October 21 through October 29, will again prove that Louisiana dairymen and breeders still are striving for larger and better dairy herds.

Mental strain, night clubs, the cocktail habit and excessive smoking are four of the reasons given for the increase in the number of persons suffering from heart disease.

was brought there on Sunday. "Later," Shannon related, "When Kelly and Bates had gone to get the money, Bailey came back and said he was looking for Bates and Kelly. 'When I told him they were not there he said he would 'just stay around a few days.' I felt he had been sent to watch us and see that we kept Mr. Urschel prisoner."

Previously, Shannon testified that he acted in fear of his life, and that Kelly had threatened to kill him and his son, Armon, if they "turned on any heat." He interpreted this to mean if he informed officers of events at the farm.

Shannon emphatically denied that his farm was used by outlaws as a place to "cool off." Just as emphatically he denied knowing of any "plan or prearranged scheme" to kidnap Urschel.

Although Bailey did nothing to lead him to believe he "Bailey" was a kidnapper, Shannon did not trust him, he testified.

At the outset of the day's session Judge Edgar S. Vaughn narrowed the list of defendants from St. Paul and Minneapolis to five by ordering Peter Valder released.

"There is not enough evidence here to show this defendant's guilt," said the judge.

On Saturday Judge Vaughn released Charles Walk, another of the Twin Cities defendants. The others, Sam Kronick, Borney Berman, Sam Kozberg, Isadore Blumenfeld and Clifford Kikely, were ordered held for a jury verdict.

Meanwhile, still rising national popularity for the Ford V-8 is shown by new figures from Detroit, which show August to have been the biggest month for Ford sales since June 1932.

Growing Ford V-8 sales in the six states covered from Memphis are making possible an increased distribution of Ford income to be spent over and over again in the territory from which it comes. Memphis officials pointed out, however, the number of employees in the Memphis plant has been increased past the 210 mark, and with business on the upgrade, the number employed is expected to gain steadily, while the same process is taking place with scores of Ford dealers throughout the six states.

Ford Distributes Bonus of $10,000

150 Salesmen in Memphis Area Share in the Awards

More new money went into circulation in the central South this week as bonus checks totaling $10,000 went through the mails from the Memphis branch plant of the Ford Motor company to more than 150 salesmen in the Memphis area.

The big bonus payment thus made by W. E. Duckworth, manager of the Memphis plant, represents the mid-year dividend received by leading salesmen throughout the territory by virtue of their having qualified through larger sales of the new Ford V-8, for membership in the Ford National Producers Club.

All of the salesmen of the Hope Auto company, local Ford dealers, participated in this bonus.

Steadily mounting sales of the Ford V-8 throughout the six states reached from the Memphis plant are credited with making this week's $10,000 additional income for salesmen possible, according to Manager Duckworth. The Memphis area, including portions of Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri, Kentucky and Alabama, is running fifth out of more than thirty Ford branches in the United States and first in truck sales, on the basis of preliminary figures on August business.

Meanwhile, still rising national popularity for the Ford V-8 is shown by new figures from Detroit, which show August to have been the biggest month for Ford sales since June 1932. Growing Ford V-8 sales in the six states covered from Memphis are making possible an increased distribution of Ford income to be spent over and over again in the territory from which it comes. Memphis officials pointed out, however, the number of employees in the Memphis plant has been increased past the 210 mark, and with business on the upgrade, the number employed is expected to gain steadily, while the same process is taking place with scores of Ford dealers throughout the six states.

Labor Challenge Given by Industry

Manufacturers Defy Power of Single National Union

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Thousands of manufacturers over the nation were told Monday night by the National Association of Manufacturers that a closed union shop under which labor contracts were made with a single union would violate the intent of the recovery act.

This interpretation went out in a copyrighted bulletin prepared by John C. Gall, associate attorney of the association and took direct issue with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The association also informed employers that under the law they could advise workers against joining a labor union, or, within limits, offer special inducements such as group insurance, to employees who will join and bargain through a company union.

The bulletin of the manufacturer's association was interpreted by NRA officials as widening the breach between capital and labor over the labor section of the recovery act that guarantees the right of workers to bargain collectively in any manner they choose without interference or coercion from employers.

Green last week charged that "astounding evasions" of the law were practiced by big companies in furthering company unions which are made up of employees of single plants.

Gall said that since the recovery act leaves to the employer the clear option as to the form of collective bargaining he desires if any, there is no difference whatever under the law between a company union, on the one hand, and an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor on the other.

Regarding inducements to further company unions, Gall said it was a legal practice, "so long as the employer does not use coercive methods to cause the employee to select that method of dealing with him."

Storks, which are regarded as a sanitary asset in the Netherlands, are decreasing in number, due, it is said, to their eating poisoned grasshoppers while wintering in South Africa.

J. L. Hiler Named Nevada Co. Agent

Emergency Agriculturist Is Given Permanent Appointment

J. L. Hiler, former technical assistant at the University of Arkansas Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station near here, has been appointed as county agent for Nevada county, it was learned Tuesday.

For the past several months he has served Nevada county as an emergency agriculturist, supervising the government's cotton acreage reduction program.

His appointment as county agent became effective Tuesday. Mr. Hiler will work as agent until the quorum court meets in November to determine whether the work will continue.

It was announced that the fifth consignment of checks for cotton acreage destruction in Nevada county arrived Monday, bringing the total cash benefit to $24,251.50.

Government cash for the entire project in Nevada county will total approximately $122,460, Mr. Hiler said. Total number of farmers participating in the destruction plan is 1,950.

Here in Hempstead county cash received, up to noon Tuesday totaled $38,000. This was distributed to 675 farmers.

Cotton acreage taken out of production in this county totaled 19,000.

Co-operating in this move were 120 farmers.

Options taken out on cotton are estimated at $108,000, provided that the staple sells at nine cents per pound, bringing the total government cash to Hempstead farmers to $285,000. Frank Stanley, emergency agriculturist, said.

When enzymes are uncontrolled, they run wild—and yield beer that is rank and indigestible.

SCHLITZ has evolved a secret enzyme control that encourages the enzymatic action to exactly the correct point.

Thus does SCHLITZ effect complete fermentation at the brewery in Milwaukee—not in your stomach.

That is the answer to SCHLITZ full-bodied flavor, to its brilliance, to its healthfulness—see SCHLITZ is a predigested food.

It is never green—never turbid—never flat. It is mildly exhilarating. It flushes and tones the system properly—and at bedtime it induces sound, restful sleep. It is good and good for you. The Brown Bottle protects its purity from the brewery to your glass. Try it today! You'll like it.

MR. FIVE-ACES O'BRIEN EXTENDS HIS TOUR OF INSPECTION TO THE CABIN OF THE MURDERED PROSPECTORS.

BAH! YOU COULDN'T TELL IF ONE OF THOSE BIRDS WAS LUCKY BOY CHARLIE OR A MONKEY.

WE'LL LOOK AROUND FOR MORE EVIDENCE—HUM! AN OLD HUNTING KNIFE.

Five Aces Remembers!

WHY, I REMEMBER IT! I'D KNOW IT ANYWHERE! THE OLD YELLOW FRONT SALOON, STUD POKER, A SKY LIMIT GAME—AND LUCKY-BOY GOT CLEANED. CLAIMED HE WAS CHEATED AND PULLED THIS VERY KNIFE ON ME.

FUNNY, IF THIS WAS HIS PLACE, THAT NOBODY AIN'T STRUCK GOLD YET.

JUST KEEP YOUR EYE ON GAIL WEBSTER. IT WAS HER OLD MAN WHO STAKED LUCKY-BOY, AND THAT GAIL KNOWS A HEAP MORE MIKE, THAN SHE LETS ON.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

A FELLA CAME UP TO ME AN' ASKED IF I HAD A BOY FRIEND, A LITTLE BIGGER THAN ME, WHO'D PEDDLE BILLS—I TOLD HIM ABOUT YOU AND HE SAID THAT'D BE FINE—HE'LL GIVE YOU TWO DOLLARS A DAY, TOO!

TWO DOLLARS A DAY? BOY! THAT'S GREAT, OSCAR—BY THE WAY, WHAT KIND OF A LOOKIN' FELLOW WAS HE?

OH BOY BOY! TALK ABOUT LUCK! HOT DOG!

GOT A SWELL SURPRISE FOR YOU, FRECKLES!

THAT SO, OSCAR? SHOOT!!

OH, HE WAS TALL, HAD A POINTED CHIN AND WORE A LITTLE, BLACK MUSTACHE!

GEE! THAT FITS THE DESCRIPTION THE HOTEL MAN GAVE ME OF MR. BOTTLE.

GOOD NIGHT! MR. BOTTLE'S THE MAN I STILL THINK KNOWS SOMETHING ABOUT THE POISONING OF POODLE.

Pelicans Defeat Texans 3rd Time

New Orleans Leads San Antonio Three Games to Two

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans went out in front in the Dixie series for the first time Monday by winning their second straight victory over San Antonio in Heinemann Park by the same score that marked Sunday's win, 5 to 2.

Going into the contest at two games all, New Orleans came out with a series lead of 3 to 2 and a three-quarter claim on the all-South championship. Four wins are necessary for the title. In the four previous games San Antonio had twice moved a game in front, only to have New Orleans come up and tie it up again.

With the series already far from being a financial success, only about 2,000 turned out for Monday's game.

Get Rid of Malaria!

Banish Chills and Fever!

To conquer Malaria, you must do two things. (1) Destroy the infection in the blood. (2) Build up the blood to overcome the effects and to fortify against further attack. There is one medicine that does these two things and that is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic! The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic destroys the malarial infection in the blood while the iron builds up the blood. Thousands of people have conquered Malaria with the aid of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. In addition to being a noted remedy for Malaria, it is also an excellent tonic for general use. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and contains nothing harmful. Even children like it and they can take it safely. For sale by all stores. Adv.
